About Thoddu Island

Thoddu Island

The island is located 67 km west of the capital Male. And 20 km north of the administrative center of North Ari Atoll – Rasdhoo. Thoddo is a fairly large island by Maldivian standards – about 2 x 1 km. Moreover, a third of the island is reserved for farms, another third is the village, and the rest is the jungle. The population of the island is about 1400 people.

Thoddo is considered one of the largest producers of agricultural products in the country and is mainly known for its sweet watermelons, papaya, banana and beetle leaves cultivations.

Tourist Guest Beach in Thoddu

Bikini Beach Visit the breathtaking Thoddoo bikini beaches, some of the best we have seen in the Maldives. There are two tourist bikini beaches on opposite sides of the island. The closer one in the northeast is smaller and less crowded. In the west, the bikini beach is busier, with more infrastructure, and is perfect for sunsets. Both have trees providing shade and some sunbeds/hammocks. The boundaries of the bikini beach are marked by a fence made of dry palm leaves. Remember, swimwear can only be worn inside the designated bikini beach area.

Thoddoo Island Fruit Plantations

Thoddoo Island is the agricultural heart of the Maldives, known for its sweet watermelons and diverse produce. Walk the farms to see locals and international workers harvesting papayas, bananas, coconuts, and more.

Local Attractions

1

Papaya and Water Melon farms

Explore the city's rich history by visiting iconic landmarks like the grand cathedral, the historic town square, and the beautifully preserved civic buildings.

2

Tourist beach

Immerse yourself in the local art and culture by visiting the renowned museum, the captivating performing arts center, and the vibrant art galleries.

3

Excursions

Discover the stunning natural beauty of the area by hiking through the lush, verdant parks, kayaking on the serene river, or taking in the breathtaking views from the nearby mountain lookout.

4

Experience the magic of Sunset Beach as you swing under the painted sky, capturing moments with flying foxes gracefully gliding overhead from the neighboring island.
