INSPIRED BY OMANI AND ARABIAN HERITAGE

Key elements in the character of Oman's Fort architecture are integrated in the resort's design concept without dominating it. The design of the entrance was inspired with the idea of a fort in mind. The exterior great wooden doors are strong, impressive and commanding. There is a dramatic contrast upon entry as the interior gives an immediate magical impression with a majestic open courtyard featuring lush green terraces and a falaj with running water. The views of the courtyard are rectilinearly framed, increasing the depth of perspective. The Omani tradition of integrating Falaj with cleansing spaces was adopted to offer intimacy to secluded areas around Anantara Spa which harbours jacuzzis, daybeds and hammocks.

THE BEAUTY OF AL JABAL AL AKHDAR

DIANA'S POINT

'Life is just a journey.' – Diana, Princess of Wales

'Diana's Point', the most famous viewpoint on Al Jabal Al Akhdar is situated in the heart of the Resort. Although many residents believe that Diana camped on this site for as long as two weeks, she came with Prince Charles on a six-hour day trip in November of 1986. Their Royal Highnesses, the Prince and Princess of Wales arrived by helicopter on the site of the Resort, which was at this time an untouched wilderness area.

Charles spent most of the time painting the magnificent scenery in watercolours, while Diana read a book. Tracing their steps, we have chosen the most idyllic viewpoint to build a platform for Diana's Point.

As you stand timeless in the place where Diana once was, you can imagine her there and how she must have felt sublime in the grandeur of nature, just as you do. The ophiolite rock slabs on which Charles and Diana walked are laced with fossils more than 230 million years old, which no doubt would have attracted the keen interest of Charles, a passionate environmentalist.
